Did you know?

- Neurotransmitter molecules help nerve cells carry chemical messages between the brain and body to control automatic responses like breathing, heartbeat, and digestion. They also help regulate important functions, like stress responses, mood, learning, and memory.
- Brain fog is intensified with stress, lack of sleep, skipping brain-boosting activities, and not taking frequent work breaks. Its effects are lessened when you stay active, engage in mentally stimulating tasks, and get 7–8 hours of sleep each night.
- If you feel like you're always distracted and can't finish the things on your to-do list, here are some ways you can improve your focus: Start your day with the most difficult tasks, minimize distractions, and take time for mindfulness and short breaks throughout the day.

Directions

Empty 1 packet of AXIO into 12–16 ounces cold water. Stir or shake in a sealed container for at least 30 seconds or until mixed well. Use less water for a stronger taste, and more water for a milder flavor.
